

Silent Revenants

Band: Silent Revenants
Album Title: The Withering Of The Blue Flower
Label: Independent
Release Date: 22nd November 2022
Genre: Symphonic Rock/Metal

Description:
Melodic and handmade symphonic metal which attracts with extraordinary instruments.

Silent Revenants are a six-headed melodic metal band with various musical influences which mixes several styles of metal and add orchestral parts as well as folk elements.

The "Silent Revenants" are also well known for their formidable live performance and their great shows.

The band combines hard as well as "groovy" drums, driving guitars, orchestral arrangements, and folk elements. Add to that the powerful voice of a singer and the recipe for a completely new rock / metal was finished.

Silent Revenants in three words: Intoxicating, lyrical and powerful as well.

Influences for the album:
Besides typical metal and rock influences the Album was influenced by classical music as well as some folk music. Furthermore, we added some progressive rhythms and a tiny pinch of jazz in one song. Lyrically the album was influenced by romantic poetry, philosophical topics and social criticism.

Track Suggestions:
Let The Dragons Fly
Forever
Flesh Golem
Siren

Bio:
Silent Revenants are a six-headed melodic metal band with various musical influences.

The band plays melodic and handmade symphonic metal which attracts with extraordinary instruments. The Silent Revenants are mixing several styles of metal and add orchestral parts as well as folk elements.

The band was founded in 2012. First of all it was five-headed and very typical metal/rock line up. At the foundation was clear where the musical journey should go: orchestral melodies should meet crunchy guitars, groovy drums and a unique and powerful voice. All band members brought extensive musical experience into the project. So the first songs were written quickly. After the first studio recording (an EP called 'Every Dream') and several successful gigs Julian (guitars, backing vocals, songwriting and composing) decided to expand their musical possibilities. So Celina Schubert with her violin joined the band and defined and enriched the sound of the band. After a few personal changes and some short breaks Jannik Hütt finally joined the band and brought the unique and mind-blowing sound of a great highland pipe and some Irish whistles into the songs of Silent Revenants. The band played further gigs and got overwhelming positive feedback.

At the end of 2016 the band decided to start a crowdfunding campaign to fund their first album. The campaign was a complete success and the band started to record their first Album 'Walk with Fire' which is still available on digital platforms and as CD. After that they played on several local festivals and clubs. Since 2019 Elora Dönnebrink plays the violin for Silent Revenants while Denise also started to play the bagpipes and the whistles for the band. Now Silent Revenants finally released their new Album "The Withering Of The Blue Flower".

The "Silent Revenants" were indeed inspired from typical metal and rock bands they very quickly found and perfected their own, completely new, and innovative sound. There was a mixture of hard as well as "groovy" drums, driving guitars and orchestral arrangements and folk elements. Add to that the powerful voice of a singer and the recipe for a new and fresh rock/metal was finished.

This is the (still) quite short but remarkable story of the "Silent Revenants".

Web and Social Media

Links:

<https://www.silent-revenants.de>

<https://www.facebook.com/silentrevenants>

<https://www.instagram.com/silentrevenants/>

<https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC8iyOAqWu12WXthgYG8bp8A>

Band Line-Up:

Denise Schlahn - Lead Vocals, Bagpipes, Whistles
Marina Grave - Keys
Elora Dönnebrink - Violins
Hermann Remmers - Bass, Growls and Shouts
Robbert Geurts - Drums
Julian Kirschbaum - Guitars, Vocals

CD Track Listing:

- 1 The Withering Of The Blue Flower
- 2 Searching For Eden
- 3 Flesh Golem
- 4 Embers
- 5 Will-O'-The Wisp
- 6 Siren
- 7 Storm Witches
- 8 Horizons
- 9 Let The Dragons Fly Forever
- 10 Orphaned Angels
- 11 ROC